My Project

This, in turn, would be the description for thee project, detailed via points of bullet in the below space:

- And indeed, this here, would be where a bullet does indeed lie.
- And here, yet lies another bullet! Hark!
 - And this, here-- this is a so-called "sub-bullet". A curious phenomenon, nonetheless worth the steep price of implementation twice over, doesn't one agree?
 - How lovelyly reassuring to find that the sub-bullet functionality has agreed to work for multiple sub-bullets! The text do floweth, that's for certain.
- This bullet here is just to make sure that we can nicely return to proper bulletry in spite of the preceeding sub-bulletry.

Another Proj'

Hey check out this other project! It's actually pretty sick that this all works well without issues for the most part. Woo hoo.
